

CRICS Teachers...

are missionaries! Teachers are speaking the love of Jesus into the lives of children: children of missionaries, and children who are just now hearing of and seeing Jesus for the first time at CRICS.

build God's Kingdom in Thailand and South East Asia! Because of CRICS, missionary families are able to live in Northern Thailand and obey God's calling to spread the redeeming love of Jesus to local and nearby people groups.

serve local, international, and missionary families who are Thai, Japanese, Dutch, Australian, Karen, Akha, American, British, Taiwanese, South Korean, Brazilian, Canadian, and Greek.

form a diverse community united by our love for Jesus and our love from children. Teachers have come from the United States, Hong Kong, Australia, Germany, The Netherlands, and Thailand.

"God is moving in northern Thailand, and I love being in a place of serving and empowering missional families to do what God has created them to do here. Teaching these students and pouring into them simply makes me happy."
Julie Pennington, Teacher and Missionary

"My heart is full each time a new school year begins here and I see all the ones who are here to teach our kids so that we might continue to be able to do the mission work we have been called to Thailand to do. However, I also want to say, please know that those who are believers who come here to teach are also missionaries as well. They are doing the work of the Lord as they are here and impacting the lives of our kids. It is like a double blessing and we are so thankful for each of them who will lay down their lives for Jesus to come here."
Sharon Lynn, Missionary

"Here you will find teaching at its best: small class size, students motivated to learn, lovely new facilities, spectacular setting, Christian focus."
Edie Ritz, Teacher

CRICS Teachers Serve Families Who...

Plant churches among the Northern Thai

Support sexually abused girls

Support HIV children and their mothers and families affected by AIDS

Provide community development among the surrounding hill-tribes

Provide homes for Hilltribe children

Train Christian leaders in Thailand

Minister to nearby countries (we are strategically located near China, Laos, and Myanmar)

Create restoration houses for children from the sex industry

Reach out to local university students

Develop jobs and train local people as bi-vocational missionaries

Purposefully serve and share Jesus in their Akha and Thai communities

CRICS is committed to keeping the school affordable for missionaries. One way we do this is by inviting missionary-teachers to serve at CRICS.